Decolonizing Romani History: Notes from the Field

Dr. Eve Rosenhaft (Professor Emerita, Liverpool University), coeditor of European Roma: Lives beyond Stereotypes, will be leading a focused seminar for graduate students on critical Romani history and the challenges of historical research and memory work.

- When: May 10, 2023 (Wednesday), 5:00-7:00 p.m.
- Where: J501 (SIAS)
- Registration: Graduate students who wish to attend this seminar should email CGS at <cgsgrad@sogang.ac.kr> to apply by April 23. Please include your name, department or program, level of study (MA or PhD), phone number, email address, and a short note about why you would like to participate in this seminar. Acceptance notifications will be sent out no later than April 26; students who have been selected will be provided with the readings to be prepared in advance of the seminar with confirmation of registration. Seating is limited and will be granted according to fit with areas of specialization and/or student projects.
- This seminar is free for students and will be held in English.
